

and in which server system provides any part of the digital information transmitted by the sending system to the receiving system as a random access resource, where said receiving system can access any available part.